Oklahoma City, Okla.

POSTGAME NOTES

Game 12: Oklahoma 6, Washington 2

- No. 1-ranked and top-seeded Oklahoma defeated No. 11 seed Washington 6-2 in WCWS Game 12. The Sooners improved to 55-4 on the season, while Washington ended its season at 45-17.
- Oklahoma improved to 10-9 in the all-time series against the Huskies. The teams met earlier this season, with the Sooners winning 2-0.
- OU is now 14-12 all-time in the WCWS while UW dropped to 22-19.
- Oklahoma will be making its third WCWS Championship Game/Series appearance. The Sooners beat UCLA in the 2000 national title game and lost to Alabama in three games in last year's championship series.
- OU has scored at least six runs in all eight NCAA postseason games this year and has outscored its opponents 82-13.
- Oklahoma scored the game's first three runs in the third inning. In their three WCWS games, the Sooners have gone scoreless during the first two innings but have outscored opponents 12-3 in the third frame.
- OU sophomore Lauren Chamberlain sent a solo home run deep over the left field fence in the third inning, marking her 29th homer of the season and 59th of her career. She also picked up her 82nd RBI of the year on the play to set OU and Big 12 single-season records. In the contest between the teams earlier this season, Chamberlain also homered to account for the only two runs of the game. Chamberlain leads the WCWS with 12 total bases in her three games (next highest total is Texas' Kim Bruins with nine in four games).
- Senior pitcher Keilani Ricketts also homered in the third inning, her 14th round-tripper of the season and 49th of her career. The solo shot broke a tie with her sister, Samantha, for fourth place in OU history.
- Washington sophomore Kylee Lahners hit her 10th home run of the season in the fifth inning, cutting Oklahoma's lead to 4-1. Later in the frame, pinch runner Mercedes Wetmore scored on an error, bringing the Huskies within two runs.
- Oklahoma sophomore Georgia Casey added an RBI single in the sixth inning, giving the Sooners a 5-2 lead. Casey finished the game 2-for-3 with 2 RBIs.
- In the circle, Ricketts (34-1) allowed two runs on three hits and two walks. She struck out 10 batters, marking her 15th game of double-digit strikeouts this season, the 78th of her career and the second of the WCWS.
- UW pitcher Kaitlyn Inglesby (23-9) gave up six runs on eight hits and seven walks while striking out six.
- Washington's defense set a single-season school record with its .980 fielding percentage.
- Tonight's Session 6 attendance figure of 9,093 brought this year's six-session total to 53,856 (average of 8,976), which is ahead of last year's then-record 52,564 through the same number of sessions (average of 8,761).
- The WCWS Championship Series between Oklahoma and Tennessee will be played Monday (ESPN2), Tuesday (ESPN) and Wednesday (if necessary; ESPN). All three games are scheduled to start at 7 p.m. CT.
